Daily Proverb—"Whoever gives thee a bone would not wish to see thee dead."

The Ford factories are again being operated up to capacity. Evidently Edsel takes these predictions of continued prosperity throughout 1927 seriously.

The Florida general assembly has decided to drain the Everglades, but it isn't stated what the sizes and powers of the pumps are to be.

No doubt it's a loss-up with the parents of the babe born in a Ford to decide whether the name is to be Tin Lizzie or Flivver.

What more natural than that Representative La Guardia, of New York, should place the blame for those New York liquor deaths on Secretary Mellon? He could hardly be expected to attack his constituents who disposed of it.

Governor Donahey favors a tax boost of $9,000,000 on corporations. The governor's investments in corporation securities probably are of the preferred variety.

As you say, Mr. Coolidge, economy is a mighty good thing usually, and it should be observed in naval construction, but it's worth remembering that no one in this country has ever successfully grown naval vessels upon trees.

Some of the players implicated in the baseball scandal talk as though throwing a game is decidedly commendable if it isn't thrown for a monetary consideration.

If the countries of Europe would like to know how to put their money back to par, at the same time paying their war debts, without weeping, as they come due, they might write to Canada, enclosing stamped and addressed envelopes for replies.

Although her debt of $18,500,000,000 puts her in splendid position to acquire a world honor, France hasn't shown the slightest inclination to go after the debt-paying record.

As disclosure after disclosure is made in the Mellett case, it's not impossible that some members of Canton's police force, past and present, are inclined to disagree with the view that life is one long, glad, sweet song, as one sometimes hears of it being painted.

"The hip flask played its usual part in New York celebrations," says the Washington Star. "So did the ambulance." Naturally. They long have been recognized as possessing a strong connection.

L. J. Tabor, master of the national grange, says the dollars of the farmers in the banks of Ohio are worth ninety-nine cents each. Here's where we double our money and make $43.78 by going over to our banker and demanding that he pay over to us our balance in farmers' dollars.

Russia has so often told that story to the effect that the United States has approached her looking to a resumption of diplomatic relations that it's not impossible that she actually may believe it.

Let the blame fall where it may, we have the statements of the director of finance, the auditor of state and the governor that a deficit of $4,000,000 will exist by June 30, of the present year, which is another line on how carefully and capably the affairs of the state of Ohio have been handled.

Danger in "Hitching On."

Of course, hitching onto automobiles is a lot of fun—provided there is no unfortunate outcome. Any boy or girl who has ever tried it knows that. But is the possible fun worth the possible chance of injury or death which any boy or girl who hitches his or her sled onto a motor car runs? There's a lot of fun in living and mightily little in dying, or going through life a cripple.

The boys and girls all over the city who are taking chances by "hitching on" should think of this. Parents should think of this, and so should the teachers in the schools.

The boy or girl who hitches onto an automobile figures, of course, that it will be easy to let go should the auto go too fast or in a direction he or she may not want to go. And it is easy to let go, but it isn't so easy to stop. Nor can any boy or girl tell into what object he or she may run or when a car coming from the opposite direction may hit him or her.

Were all motor car drivers cautious and careful, did all follow the best practice in driving, there might be, doubtless, would be, less danger in hitching on, but all drivers are not cautious and careful. A lot of them are careless and indifferent, some are not capable of driving and some are just naturally vicious—the kind that go against "stop" signals and cut through traffic, both motor and foot, regardless of results. Hitching onto cars is dangerous at all times, it is especially dangerous so long as these three classes of drivers are permitted to endanger the public. We wouldn't cut girls and boys out of legitimate fun, but we would have them get it in some less dangerous way than hitching to a car going from thirty to forty miles an hour.

An English-Speaking League.

The English papers can hardly be said to have taken with any degree of enthusiasm to the English-speaking league of nations advocated by Editor William R. Hearst in the chain of papers which he owns. As a matter of fact, we might guess from their tone that it is their feeling that any attempt to organize such a league would be just about the worst thing ever for the peace of the world. One English paper expressed the opinion that an English-speaking league of nations would mean matters far even worse than the league now in being. This was not the wording chosen by the paper in question, but it was its view beyond all question. Mousing things up worse than they have been moused up by the league of nations, it will have to be admitted, would be most decidedly going some.

All the papers of London comment editorially on Mr. Hearst's proposed league, and practically all of them take into consideration the element which he apparently has not considered, which is a bit remarkable, for he has traveled extensively in Europe and knows Europe as well as he knows his home land. The element to which we refer is that of jealousy. As it is, the world is jealous of the English-speaking nations. The feeling is greater toward the United States than toward England, Canada or Australia, of course, for it is so happens that this country is richer in many ways than any of them, but there can be no question but what there is jealousy in the Latin heart, and the Slav, and the Teutonic, of the Anglo-Saxons. We have often thought that the place the Anglo-Saxons hold in the League of Nations has weakened its efforts solely through this element of jealousy entertained for the League's Anglo-Saxon elements by the other divisions of the human race members of it. Now were these English-speaking nations of get together in a league of their own, who can say how greatly intensified this feeling would be. It would be easier to figure that the feeling against the English-speaking peoples would be practically unlimited.

Mr. Hearst is a man of ability, a man of exceptional mentality. Being such, it is hardly probable that he will go further in the advocacy of an English-speaking league in the light of the reception his suggestion has been given by the London papers. Even were his advocacy of an English-speaking league merely a bit of journalistic enterprise—we do not take to that view, but express it purely for the following comment—we do not believe that he would care to follow it further at the possible expense of further spilling what may prove to be the peace-of-the-world beans.

Even a "thrown" game may be of interest to a fan, but that will hardly relieve the feelings of the poor fan who bets on such a game and loses and later discovers it was thrown.

State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy is out in a statement that $1,000,000 can be saved the tax-payers of Ohio annually by better purchasing for institutions, cutting the number of employees and giving the employees less to do. Sounds like the line of talk put out when Governor Vile was auditor. Come, come, Joe! The "patriots" must be rewarded in some way.

Possibly those who can not see the slightest justification for a congressional investigation of baseball haven't stopped to consider that some legislators may honestly feel that they need the advertising.

Asked by the Washington police not to park his car again in the approach to the navy building, where it had been standing for two hours, Congressman Blanton, of Texas, replied that he would keep on doing it just as long as he was on the "people's business" and explained that that was precisely what the "Congressional" on his automobile tag meant. If members of the two houses of congress were even approximately as anxious to obey the law as they are to insist upon some of the prerogatives which are theirs under it, they might set examples worthy of emulation rather than for avoidance.

We wish to be absolutely fair to one who may be, and doubtless is, a good woman, even though ill-advised, and hence assume that the thousands of convicts let out of the Texas penitentiary are the beneficiaries of Jim's somewhat peculiar idea of what calls for the exercising of executive clemency rather than hers.

HAVING A HARD TIME PASSING THIS LAW!

Thirst Often Cause of Crying.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.

Those who have no babies will get tired of my preaching about babies' thirst. But I have to do this often because babies are being born every day and every new baby has a thirst just as all its predecessors had.

I want to make friends with each new baby and in no other way can I do so well as by seeing that it has plenty of water. No baby likes to be thirsty. Every baby cries if it is thirsty. Every thirsty baby is glad when it gets a drink.

The first thing to think of when a baby cries is about its thirst. The water issue even lately? This, overfeeding and thirst are the chief causes of crying. The prick of a pin causes real yelling. Thirst is not likely to produce so violent an outburst, but the desire for water makes the little chap very miserable indeed. The baby will let you know something is wrong and tell you about it in his way.

No matter how old or how young you may be, you do not like to suffer for water. There is no more terrible death than to die from thirst. My heart goes out to a poor, helpless baby suffering from parched tongue and dry throat.

Because a baby is fed wholly upon milk, the mother must not regard that as all the fluid the little one needs. It is a good rule to regard the milk as food, not drink. Then there will be a better realization of why water is needed.

The tissues of the body, every tissue of the body, require water. The building and repair of the body, as well as the disposal of waste materials, demand water. Solid material cannot be carried through the vessels and passages.

Everything must be put into solution. Much water is needed for this purpose.

Your baby can't have a clear skin, good digestion and a well-nourished body without water. For its health, then, as well as for comfort, you should give water several times a day.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

H. N. Q.—How can I get rid of dandruff and oil on my hair?

2.—What causes cancer in the mouth?

3.—How can I prevent gas from forming in my stomach after eating?

4.—Shampoo the hair frequently and use a good tonic. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

5.—This usually indicates an acid in the system. Correct the diet and avoid constipation. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

6.—This condition is probably due to hyperacidity, an acid condition of the stomach. This should be corrected. For full information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

B. M. Q.—What will clear up pimples?

2.—What will help me to reduce? I am 30 years old, five feet four inches tall—what should I weigh?

3.—A restricted diet in regard to sweets and regular elimination should bring about improvement. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Exercise proper diet should be helpful. You should weigh about 125 pounds. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

L. N. S. Q.—I have had two operations on my eye for ptosis—once by knife and one by needle. Is there any other treatment which might be effective—since the above did not help the trouble?

3.—No, surgical procedure is the remedy.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Vagrant Verse.

THE CARAVAN.

When I fare forth to Paradise I'll have a caravan

Of shadowy nudes and camels Go with me if I can.

I'll load them with a west wind A blowing off the sea,

The drowsy, hazy murmur Of a bumbler.

A tumbled poppy smoothing Her rosy skirts at dawn,

The smell of new-mown grasses On a plucky lawn.

I'll load them with a dogwood branch Across the sky of May,

A thrush's lonely flute song At the close of day.

There will be hailes and hailes of joy Which doesn't spoil like grief,

And lots of lonely human love And shiny young belief.

And when I reach the portals The happy folk within

Will crowd about the gateway To see what I bring in.

And I shall tell the angel Who stands there and directs,

"There's nothing doubtful here, Just personal effects.

For these things are a part of me. They're all that I could bring.

Then he'll pass them into heaven By order of the King.

—Marion Brown Shelton.

Dinner Stories.

A guest hurried up to the hotel clerk's counter. He had just ten minutes to pay his bill, reach the station and board his train.

"Thank it," he exclaimed, "I've forgotten something. Here, boy, run up to my room—No. 427—and see if I left my pajamas and shaving kit. Hurry! I've only five minutes now."

The boy hurried. In four minutes he returned, empty handed and out of breath.

"Yes, sir," he panted. "You left them."

"I'll explain deduction," announced Willie, desiring of ailing his knowledge in the home circle.

"In our back yard, for example, is a pile of ashes. By deduction that is evidence that we have had fires going this winter."

"Yes, yes," broke in father, "you might go out and sift the evidence."

A spinster living in a London suburb was shocked at the language used by two men reporting telegraph wires close to her house.

She wrote to the company on the matter, and the foreman was asked to report.

"He and Bill Fairweather were on this job," he said. "I was with the telegraph pole, and accidentally let the hot lead fall on Bill. It went down his neck. Then he said: 'You really must be more careful, Harry!'"

What Did He Talk About, Anyway?

That 1,743-word sentence written in an annual report by Nicholas Murray Butler is even more wonderful than was at first supposed. It makes no mention of the weather, baseball scandals or prohibition.—Detroit News.

Some Questions of Interest Asked and Answered.

Q. What does the stock signify when worn in Chinese rings? T. A.

A. It is the emblem of longevity. The stock was thought to live to a fabulous age; at 600 years, being too old, it could only drink; and turned black after 1,000 or 2,000 years. A black stock in the design of the ring is particularly significant.

Q. What is a stone called which has the cutting sunk in it, much as the cameo is raised? R. E. S.

A. Precious or semi-precious stones which have figures sunk below the surface are engraved in intaglio.

Q. Have more Canadians come to the United States from the French provinces or from English ones? J. G. H.

A. According to the 1920 census, there were 848,309 residents of the United States who had come from the French provinces of Canada, and 1,755,519 who had come from other parts of Canada.

Q. How much ground does the Great pyramid cover? E. H.

A. The base of the Great pyramid covers thirteen acres. It is the largest piece of masonry ever built.

Q. What material is the stickiest? J. H. C.

A. Pine resin, at the right stage of hardening, is one of the stickiest materials known.

Q. What state has the largest percentage of working women? W. C.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

In the Milky Way are groups of stars called cepheids. They are a thousand times brighter than the sun. They are used by astronomers for measuring distance in the universe. The speed of the sun, which is known, can be combined with the angular motion of the stars. The importance of all this is enhanced by the fact that some day scientists will be able to measure the universe. At least some of them think they will.

Can the human mind quite grasp the idea of measuring in terms of earth the handwork of God?

Harry Collins Spillman, educational director of a $20,000,000 corporation, gives a wonderful definition of age. Looking for knowledge, for language-technique, and for inspiration he turns always to the Bible. In old Joel he reads that old men shall dream dreams and young men shall see visions. That's the answer. Dreams are pictures of the past. When you dream dreams you are old. Visions are pictures of the future. Young men see visions and old men dream dreams.

Are you old?

This same Spillman knows the immeasurable value of language. On what a joyous thing it we could go to a bank, when we confront a difficult task, and borrow language—if only until tomorrow. What a rate of interest we would be willing to pay!

New Yorkers this month will see the opening of wireless telephones—wires to London. Sitting at his desk the editor of the New York Times will be able to speak into the receiver and be heard by the editor of the London Times. No wires—just air and the great creative force of the universe.

We laugh at miracles of old. Before our wondering eyes are performed greater miracles today. We pour grand opera through the point of a needle and carry it on the wings of the wind for a thousand miles. And then we doubt that the universe's greatest man, infused with the immeasurable power of the Creator of all the universe, could say to the dead man, "Arise"—and feel the pulse of life flicker and go strong.

We are good old men. We dream dreams, but we can't see visions.

A Cheerful Message.

[Ohio State Journal.]

Government at Washington is cleaner and more efficient than it ever has been in the past. In the estimation of David Lawrence, editor of the United States Daily at the national capital. More than that, it is being made better and stronger continually, there has been a noticeable improvement during recent years. There are more men of clean life and honor in the public service and fewer men of dangerous weakness in places of authority than at any previous time in the history of the government. Mr. Lawrence is convinced the situation is growing better and that movement will continue.

That is a cheering statement to come from one so competent to reach a correct decision, a novel and important message of cheer as the new year opens. Mr. Lawrence has had fifteen years' association with government at the national capital, has been close to men in high place and knows much of the inside workings of government. He is competent to see and judge and know. He holds no official position, is under no obligations, is free to make his own statements as he was to reach his own conclusions.

Mr. Lawrence says the dishonest man in government destroys himself quickly and of the exception. The public may hear of him when some moral breakdown has taken place, but the hundreds and thousands of men who had equal or greater responsibilities and did not stumble, who are faithful to the trust they bear, who are serving the people in full faith. No one can hope to be crooked in national life and remain long in the service. The light falls on all in the public service and in the glare, there is certainty of prompt detection. It was a real service for Mr. Lawrence, in his address to the journalism meeting at Ohio State university, to appeal to his hearers to have faith in government at Washington.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS.

One of the funniest customs that has grown up with our extra intelligent civilization is that of disappearing. Well, you know what I mean. Every day somebody's wife or husband or piano player disappears. Generally, when it's often right hands to lose you money that way too. It's something it took a smart man to think of. A generation ago, when a guy went away he just beat it to Canada or South America, or else he came back and faced the music.

Well, there was a guy in Chicago and his wife disappeared. He had her hunted for all over the country, and finally he got a wire from New York that they had his wife there, and she had lost her memory.

"What does she say about herself?" the guy wired back.

"She will not talk," the police answered.

The Chicago man sent back this telegram collect:

"Just as I thought. She ain't my wife at all."—Copyright, 1927.

On the Pacific Slope.

BY O. O. MINTYRE.

Los Angeles, Jan. 7.—Los Angeles expects to be larger than London and a more important city ahead on that basis. It has a population situation by the throat and there will be no narrow crooked streets to widen and straighten out later on.

On the theory there is plenty of room for a never be a skyscraper city. Buildings are restricted to 150 feet in height. An idea of the size may be gained by this: California covers 155,000 square miles. The area of Great Britain is less than 99,000 square miles.

Britain has more than 42,000,000. California's population is 5,400,000. So the figures. They may mean much, or nothing. The big results depend on California people. San Francisco has not been overshadowed by Los Angeles save in sudden growth. There is room for each.

The Golden Gate city remains remote, rugged and a little aloof. It is rich in historical romance and is one of the three to which fictionists turn for color. The other two are New York and New Orleans. Los Angeles is to love it. It has dignity and rare charm.

No other city in America for instance offers a haven for arts and letters that spoils the fellowship of the Bohemian club. There are the drinkable cars over Nob Hill, the docks and wharves, the squalid warehouses of Sausalito and the ancient and modern craft in the harbor.

And the proud, majestic city itself, which rises in splendor Phoenix like from the desert disaster. I know of no city standing so splendidly as an entablature to American progress. One feels like approaching it with a sword.

There is good natured bantering between Los Angeles and San Francisco. There exists between them a rivalry of the type that exists between Amos Carter's Farm and Larkin in Texas, but each has the goal to realize the brotherhood under the skin. They remind me of the Priceless back home. They were always having boyhood feud, they themselves, but not an outsider step in and would fly to the rescue with the arbiters of a strict law.

Los Angeles has much of the gaiety of leisure. There are innumerable tourists and the retired here who have time to think. It was a pleasant experience today in a restaurant to be seated among six strangers. In no other city were chatting amiably like old friends. One peep from a stranger in a safe in the wallet and the other to the watch. And it is the cry of "transient" I might add. I love no city so wholeheartedly as that gay, reckless Dagdad on the Hudson.

There are—unless my statistical department is mixed—more automobiles here per capita than in any other city. Traffic is handled with nervousness and despatch. The cars of Hollywood are the grandest in interior equipment and

All Help
in one tablet for Colds

Modern science has developed four effective helps for colds. Now they are combined in one tablet, called HILL'S. One of the world's largest laboratories perfected the prescription. It is so well-proved, so quick and complete that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

HILL'S stops a cold in 24 hours. It checks the fever, opens the bowels, tones the entire system. It is kept ever-ready in millions of homes by people who have proved its powers. Don't rely on lesser help. And don't delay. A cold need never develop if you keep HILL'S on hand. And it need not continue when you get it. Stop it now.—Adv.

After the "Flu" is Over
---you need a Tonic

Help Is Needed to Restore
Your Wasted Strength and Energy.

"Flu" leaves the body weakened and rundown. In such cases, a tonic is clearly indicated. Restore the appetite and rid yourself of that let-down feeling.

"Flu" is a very enervating disease. It leaves its victims so weak and debilitated that there is as much danger from the after-effects as from the disease. In other words, after an attack of the "Flu" you need a selective tonic to rebuild the system so that you may have your old-time strength and energy restored.

S. S. S. is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality. You owe it to yourself and family to give S. S. S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the process by which the body is nourished. It is time-tested and reliable. S. S. S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

CITY MAY HAVE ANOTHER
INDUSTRIAL CONCERNMarion Man Seeking To Interest Local Capital in Manufacture of Invention

Marion may have another manufacturing concern to add to its rapidly growing industrial lineup. It was indicated today when B. B. Martin, N.
Greenwood st., brother of Municipal Judge William R. Martin, opened negotiations with a number of Marion business men to arrange for the manufacture of a new traffic guide which he invented.

The new device, on which Martin recently received his patent rights, was placed in operation for demonstration purpose today in the north display windows of the Cranshaw Hardware Store, N. Main st.

The device, which Martin claims can be installed and operated at half the cost of other signs in general use, has four arms which are raised and lowered by a shaft driven by a one-fourth horse power electric motor mounted in the base of the standard.

Arms Alternate

Arms on opposite side of the device work together and the pairs work alternately to the two arms on the other two sides. When not in use the arms drop to the sides of the standard.

Changing of the arms can be set at any interval, the inventor demonstrated. A group in set off five seconds before the arms change. Red lights in each arm are automatically shut off when the arms are lowered.

Mr. Martin, son of J. W. Martin, local real estate dealer, invented the machine while living in Ada, Okla. He announced today that he expected to close a deal within the next few days whereby his machine will be manufactured and shipped from Marion.

WILL OF MRS. G. W. KING
IS FILED FOR PROBATE

Lengthy Document Drawn in 1909; Time Makes Several Provisions Void

The will of the late Mrs. Sarah King, who died here on Dec. 23, widow of George W. King, organizer and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel
Co., has been filed for probate.

The property left by Mrs. King passed to her two children, Ray R.
King and Mrs. Frances Brown. Ray
R. King is named executor of the estate.

The will is a lengthy document, but most of the provisions for the disposal of the property have been voided by time. The will was made in 1909, when Ray and George W. King were living, and named Mrs. King as executor. The will provided for the disposal of the property in the event of her death, and provided for the disposal of the property in the event of her death.

Miami by the Sea

Tropical Homeland and Playland

Abundant sunshine, absence of winter's cold, balmy sea-breezes—which have made Miami the World's Greatest Winter Resort—are the chief factors attracting many thousands of permanent residents. An official U. S. census, just completed, shows the year around population of Miami (excluding suburban sections) to be 131,286—six year gain of 34%— Miami maintaining its record as the nation's fastest growing city.

Miami is a thoroughly modern city. In the last five years $30,000,000 have been spent in municipal improvements, including new schools. A new $1,500,000 high school is now under construction. There are four junior high schools and 30 grammar schools.
Miami University began classes last fall. Scores of splendid churches (83 organizations), social clubs and fraternal societies; several large musical organizations—indicating the moral and cultural environment.

More than 200 new industries in last twelve months and opportunity for many more. Fertile farm lands for fruits, vegetables, dairying and poultry—all exceedingly profitable.

Come and enjoy summer days this winter and decide to stay always.

"If Youth But Knew"

BY CHARLES M. SCHWAB
Chairman Bethlehem Steel Corporation

Many of the successful life is the success of the man who has successfully achieved the object for which he set out. It is something that is worthy of the American man. Money is often a success.

True Democrat

A man must also be a true democrat. The educated man must not get the idea that education makes him superior to any other skilled man who has devoted his life to mastering one business.

The hardest struggle for all of us is to be something different from what the average man is. I do not believe in "super men" for the world is full of capable men but it's the fellow with determination who wins out.

Another important thing is loyalty. Be loyal. What measure of success I may have won in life I attribute to the loyalty I had to a dear old friend who was my first steel master.

The great man in life who has won great acclaim and reputation is the very man who is willing to share and give the honor to others in doing the things that made him great. You must learn to be others share with you in that which you are doing, and honor and credit will be reflected upon you for so doing.

Be friendly. Lead the life that will make you kindly and friendly to every one about you and you will be surprised at what a happy life you will live.

Not All Work

There are other things in life than more work. I believe an appreciation of the finer things in life, the learning to know the beauties of literature and art and music, will help any man in his career. No active business life, whether it is manufacturing or something else, should prevent you from enjoying the beauties of life. These finer things will contribute to your success.

If you have any influence in the world to give you a start in life do not use it. Start upon your own merits and start in some lowly position, no matter what it is.

Go to your work. You may not find yourself the first year. Do not hesitate to change; if you find it is not according to your taste and ambitions, then change and go into something else that is more pleasant. No man can be successful at work if he does not find the work that he has to do pleasant.

Opportunities must come naturally. The only way they can come naturally is to give your whole heart, give your whole soul, give your every thought, give your every act to the accomplishment of what you are going to undertake.

STATE STREET SCHOOL TEACHERS ENTERTAIN

Four teachers of the first floor at State Street School entertained the members of the second floor Wednesday night at a 4 o'clock dinner at the Y. M. C. A. The dinner was followed by a theater party at the Grand Theater.

Those present were: Alice L. Donough, Mary Lee Conklin, Marian L. Conley, Emma E. Herzer, Wanda G. McMahon, Naomi Linhart, Lottie A. Touchman and Catherine R. Turner.

GLENWOOD TEACHER IS ILL, MAY NOT RECOVER

Condition of Miss Loveland Reported Serious at Savage Home

Miss Nellie Loveland, residing at the R. E. Savage home, 250 Windsor st., is seriously ill. Little hope is held for her recovery.

Except for Miss Loveland all of Glenwood's teaching staff returned after Christmas vacation.

The school started in good order but the percentage of bankers in the school banking system has fallen somewhat. Mr. Metz said that this was to be expected, though after a two weeks' vacation. The percentage of attendance was normal and but a few were absent the first day.

SCHOOL TO HAVE NEW SPECIMEN EACH WEEK

Dr. Stengel Provides Central Junior High with Showcase

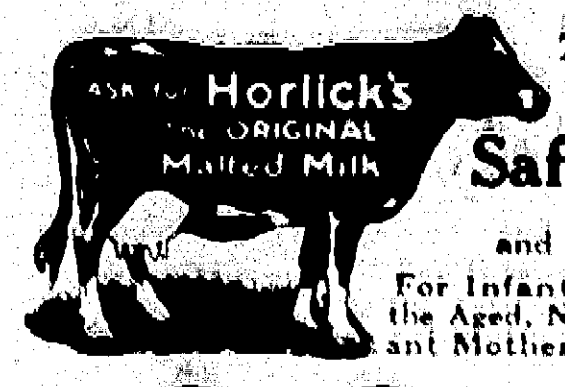

Through the kindness of Dr. F. A. Stengel a show case has been provided and placed in the front entrance hall of Central Junior High School for collected specimens.

Dr. Stengel has more than 500 different specimens and has consented to furnish the case with a specimen each week so that the pupils of the school may use them in connection with their study of nature.

This week's specimen will be a pair of muskoxen pheasants and next weeks will be a red fox.

Probably the oldest typist in the world, Miss Jane Sharman, who is 70 years old, celebrated her ninety-fifth birthday. She still manages an orphanage in London which she established sixty years ago, and personally typewrites her correspondence.

Some guests are sure of a welcome. The man with a cool million always gets a warm reception.

Best Diet for Invalids

A well-balanced, delicious, easily assimilated Food-Drink that nourishes and up-builds. Use when tired or hungry, or at meals, or hot, upon retiring. Endorsed by physicians for over 40 years. Prepared at home in a minute by briskly stirring or beating the powder in a little hot or cold water, then add water or milk.

Baseball Drama Is Tragedy As Played On Witness Stand Before Landis

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Baseball must be a tragedy, and not only on the field—but on the witness stand. This is emphatically true in the case of the opening of the hearing before Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, on the charges against "Sweede" Risberg, pitcher of the men accused.

The drama of the case where the pitcher is charged with the slaying of a newspaper messenger boy, the drama of the hearing before Judge Landis, commissioner of baseball, on the charges against "Sweede" Risberg, pitcher of the men accused.

There are no cheers that come with the recital from the official box scores of the base hits that won the game. There is no sympathetic applause for the pitcher yanked from the game in the sharp tones of the commissioner as he reads the summary.

There are no fans to pour out silent tears of sympathy for the hero worshiper who vociferously their hero worship. Baseball is stripped of everything but bitter wrangling, double crossing, stalling, and the merciless questioning of the commissioner. No atmosphere for heroes. None were made there. And the life of baseball is the building up of heroes.

Silence!

They sat in uncomfortable silence as the soft-toned chime clock on Landis' desk tolled off 45 minutes—while Risberg was seeking an entrance to the building that would permit him to escape the gaze of some 500 fans, late or curious, in front of the building.

Was the game ever delayed before while a player slipped in under cover of a back entrance to escape a beleaguering crowd of spectators?

Then these stars sat another hour while Risberg, the "volunteer," told into the records of baseball his heart that four baseball games that had been called as "official" honest efforts to win were "hipped," "traded," perjured.

Then there followed him to the witness stand such men as Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, George Heilmann, Hackenschmidt, George Dugas and others. But that members of his team had collected a "fine" to go to the Detroit players for "slugging" an entire series of ball games.

Risberg was had faced him across the table and called him "lie." But he admitted that they contributed to a "good work" against Boston.

It had six hours to play the game, but he was to follow back to the bench through a sea of hills.

It wasn't Landis. It never will be. Baseball can't be played in December, on the Christmas Eve of a skyscraper. In an atmosphere of hero, a victim, double crossing, and treachery.

It never be played in the busy days of summer heat when the air is clear and sunlight pleads for all that is clean and sport. And it must be played on the local heroes of the day.

That back is clear in mind. It would be to you and not yet with me.

The result of the hearing, matters of life. The drama was done to years ago.

Star Cast Billed for Second Act of Risberg's Play

CHICK GANDIL, BILL JAMES TO TESTIFY TODAY

Californian and Texan in Role of Witnesses Before Landis

By GENE HOFFMAN

Chicago, Jan. 7.—An all-star cast is being billed for the second act of Sweede Risberg's play, "what price ball game," scheduled to go on before an audience of judges in the chambers of Judge Landis today.

The drama was to rise promptly at 10 o'clock.

The cast was arranged in the order of importance as follows: M. Landis, the commissioner of baseball, as the judge and stage director.

The cast of characters, scheduled to appear in today's act, include:

Bill James, fresh from California, as a pitcher with Detroit, who is charged by the author of the play with the slaying of the $1,000 Detroit White Sox for "throwing" the game in the latter's direction.

Bill James replies to interloper who is expected to furnish the climax of the drama.

WESLEYAN COACH DENIES RUMORS

Coach George Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan University denied last night that he had conferred with Northwestern University officials in Chicago regarding taking over the coaching position at the Purdue school, the job vacated yesterday by Glenn Thistlethwaite, who succeeded George Little at Wisconsin.

The latter resigned as football coach to devote his entire time as director of athletics.

Over long distance telephone Gauthier said: "I know nothing of the Northwestern offer. I was in Chicago on other business entirely."

Gauthier went directly to Chicago from New York, where he, Little, Thistlethwaite, and others attended a meeting of coaches.

WILLIE HOPPE LEADS

Wins Second Block of Title Match From Hageneicher.

New York, Jan. 7.—Having won the second block of his title match with Leo Hageneicher, the champion, Willie Hoppe today was leading by a score of 1,000 to 540 and was in a fair way of regaining the world's 182 beltline championship. The third and final block will be played tonight.

The score of the second block was 540 to 340. Hoppe averaged 29 13-10 and Hageneicher 17 17-10.

OHIO STATE TO LIFT BIG TEN LID SATURDAY

To Play Purdue University on Indianapolis Court

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Minus an array of individual stars but with a combination of teamwork, driving power and scoring ability that few Buckeye teams have shown at this stage of the season, Ohio State's cage quintet will get its baptism of Big Ten Saturday night with Purdue as the opponent. The game will be played on the Indianapolis floor.

MORGAN IN BOUT

To Meet Phil McGraw in 10 Round Battle Tonight

New York, Jan. 7.—Ted Morgan of Scotland, world's junior lightweight champion, clashes with Phil McGraw of Detroit, in a 10 round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. The match was signed at one hour after 10 P. M. McGraw was the 120 pound limit this afternoon, the time will be at stake.

Sping Meyers, lightweight of Pennsylvania, will make his New York debut in the 10 round bout against Sid Herberman, of Detroit.

SISLER CONTRACT STILL UNSIGNED

St. Louis, Jan. 7.—Another St. Louis baseball bid is having difficulty securing with the club owner on the eve of the 1927 pay check.

Chicago's Sisler, one of baseball's greatest first basemen, and last year manager of the St. Louis Browns, has not signed for 1927.

Clark Sisler and Hall, however, expect to be able to get together before the season opens. It is understood Sisler is seeking eight figures a year.

Dairies Book Rosenblums for Battle Here, Feb. 18

Cleveland Rosenblums, champions of the American Basketball League last year, and equipped with one of the greatest lineups in the country this season, will oppose the local Dairy quartet here the night of Feb. 18, Manager Harkin has announced.

The Rosenblums rank among the leading professional teams of the country and have as yet met but one defeat this season. This week, say they were trounced severely by the New York Celtics, probably the greatest basketball outfit of all time. The score was 30 to 20 and the Rosenblums were helpless.

But being defeated by the Celtics is no shame. It has become an honor to be good enough to get a game scored by the great Celtics.

BOYD'S FURNITURES ADD ANOTHER CAGE VICTORY

Defeat Broadway 64 to 25 in Walk-Away Clash at LaRue

Boyd's Furnitures Wednesday night swamped Broadway Independents with a 64 to 25 score on the LaRue floor. The game lacked interest due to the great difference in the score.

Conwell led the La Rue team with 15 field goals, almost half the points scored by his team. Johnson at forward was on his heels with eight field buckets. Cornman at center connected for five. Annette made one. Babenz scored three and Dutton caged three.

Hershberger led the Broadway aggregation with five field goals and a free throw. Hamby received five field goals and Johnson made two.

The Broadway team has had hard luck all season, having lost the majority of its games.

coming small-town people. Among the humorous characters frequently referred to are Miss Tawney Apple, ticket seller of the Fairy Grotto Picture Palace; Miss Pawa Lippincott, educationist, writer and authority on affairs of the heart; Uncle Miles Turner, the first white child born west of St. Paul, O.; Mrs. Lafa Bush, late of the entertainment center of the Monarch 5 and 10; and New Trian town constable and federal rum sleuth, and Abe himself who is characterized by James Whitcomb Riley "a kind of a comical mixture of horse-sense and no sense at all." Abe is made to quote those characters most likely to be the originator of the remark or, if appropriate, according to the stock own philosophical make-up, to make them himself.

He has a unique power to sum up his observations on life, people, places, events and conditions of importance into short ingenious sentences. For example he says on the subject of the younger generation, "I wuz purty badly scared till I knocked on her door," said like Lark, who overslept one morning and did not hear his daughter come home." Of women, he says, "A woman would rather marry a poor provider any time than a poor helper." On the subject of justice he says, "When Judge Pusey asked Lou Mason, who murdered his wife, if he had anything to say before being acquitted, he replied, 'I never would have shot her if I'd known I'd have to go through so much red tape.'" On divorce, "An idea of a steady job is workin' in a divorce mill," and on prohibition, "More people now start drinkin' on New Year's than used to start drinkin' on New Year's."

As Will Rogers says of Kin Hubbard, he is "a man from Indiana who is writing more real humor than any other man in the game," his ability and popularity increasing daily with each appearance of the Abe Martin comic in the newspapers of 130 cities. A book of humor, truer, cleaner, more genuine humor would be difficult to find.

ONE of the most delightful modern books for small children is "Win-the-Pooh" by A. A. Milne, author of the famous book, "When We Were Very Young."

The book deals largely with "Winnie-the-Pooh," a toy bear, and his little master, Christopher Robin, as well as a rabbit, an owl, a pig, a donkey, a Kangaroo and her baby and other toy nursery characters. The book is a series of the imaginative adventures of these characters, supposedly told Christopher Robin by a mysterious Someone who does not figure in the book, his father perhaps.

Christopher Robin and his animal inhabitant what is called the "100 Aches." Not only Christopher Robin himself, who is a loving, adventurous, some child, but all of the animals are given distinctive personalities, individual traits of character, making them as enjoyable a living character as is found in any book. Pooh, the bear, is a loving, friendly little chap, the two chief flaws of his make-up being his constant desire of food and the fact that he is a "Bear of Very Little Brain." Rabbit is one of those persons that is always to be found in some way with "all his friends and relations." The owl, who attempts to live up to his reputation for being very wise, knows only in being a bore.

The book deals with the various adventures of this gay troupe including their hunt for the north pole, the party given for Bear who finds it, the time when Pooh visits Rabbit in his hole and eats, so much he cannot crawl, round the tree and grows thin again, the flood and the people of piglet, the hunt for a "heffalump" and Eeyore's birthday party. Pooh figures largely in this story as the titles given him near the end of the book would suggest.

Friend of Pooh's, E. C. C. (Rabbit's Companion), P. D. (Piglet's Companion), E. C. and T. F. (Eeyore's Companion and Tail-hider).

The book is cleverly and originally written and contains a humor so natural that it is a joy to read. It is for the child, but it is a joy to read it for the adult. The book of a comic story for the child and a joy to read it for the adult.

"FROM Myth to Reason," a well-written volume of more than 200 pages dealing with the myth of the mind from the beginning of history to the late end of Woodhouse Riley, recently published. It is known as an "admirable treatment of subjects which are in the forefront of attention in our country today."

George Giblin's novel, "The Flame of Courage," heads many best-selling lists including one noted in the Johannesburg, South Africa Times recently.

Three novels which appear on the list of nation-wide best sellers in the current issue of "Books of the Month," are "The Flame of Courage" by George Giblin, "The Flame of Courage" by George Giblin, "The Flame of Courage" by George Giblin.

When questioned about the manner in which she approaches the writing of such a novel as "Lighting Secret Gardens," Cynthia Leach explained that she keeps a note book in which she writes down every thought, feeling, and word that comes into her mind, and as the novel grows, she writes it down, word by word, and as the novel grows, she writes it down, word by word, and as the novel grows, she writes it down, word by word.

Miss Mary Coleman, child librarian, will conduct the story hour at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the Public Library. A story hour is held every other week on Saturday morning.

SPAIN MAKES ARMOR FOR HORSES IN BULL FIGHTS

Madrid, Jan. 5.—The Government has decided to take measures to lessen the cruelty to horses engaging in bull fights.

An official competition will be held in which a prize is to be awarded for the best design for shields or armor to protect horses from the bulls' horns. Practical trials of the inventions submitted will be held in the Madrid bull ring before competent judges.

LIBRARY CIRCULATION INCREASES 1,000 BOOKS

4,431 Patronizing Institution. Report of Miss Helen Kramer, Librarian, Discloses

An increase of 1,000 books according to a report issued by Miss Helen Kramer, librarian, today. The circulation of the library during the month of December, 1931, was 164 for the adult department and 98 for the juvenile division. Only 148 borrowers were during the month, the adults and 67 of the juvenile section. The total number of borrowers was 215, while the total number of books that circulated during the month reached 6,628.

A total of 118 books were added to the library, making a total of 11,122 volumes. One hundred and twelve books were added by purchase and six by gift. Ninety-five books of the adult class were added and 23 of the juvenile. The number of books added during the month totaled 125.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDH MORTIMER LEWIS

Friday, and I had to work over to the her shoe and Feeble took the shoe from me before I knew what she was going to do and swing it like she was going to knock a home run and landed on Maggie so hard that she went on her face in the snow I had piled up at the side of the walk, and then before I knew what she was doing she handed me the shoe and just as Maggie came scrambling out of the snow Feeble said, "Why, Thomas Aristides, aren't you ashamed?"

And the next thing I know Maggie was all over me like a swarm of bees and I was down on my stomach with her on top of me and my mouth full of snow, and a fella that is down in the snow with a lady straddle of him is in hard luck because no one can strike a lady, unless she is related to him. After a while I got hold of one of her feet and got up and she fell off and I dug her about a block on her stomach through the deep snow. I bet I showed the lunch I know how to treat a lady and get her back.

I got my six-bits and now I have got to keep it in my pocket and not spend it till Valentine Day. I have lots of trouble. The teacher told us that if we were at the bottom of a deep hole we could look up and see stars in the daytime. So's her old man! Me and Jubilee went to bed early.

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"There's a little Wiggily boy-or girl," said Uncle Wiggily, "who's a real one morning as he was out of his hollow stump bangs and bangs, just under the edge of a tree, and legs and tail of one of the little creatures who lived in the hollow stump across the garden."

"I got your person, you don't know who you're talking to," said Uncle Wiggily. "I'm a tree, you're a tree, it's a tree on a stump, and apples grow, and the tree is made of apples, so, naturally, the tree is a pie tree. That's all, that's all, of course, there were no apples on the tree now, for it was winter."

INQUEST IN MURDER OF WOMAN IS PLANNED

Contractor Holds to Original Story of Attack by Bandits Shooting

Cincinnati, Jan. 7.—A coroner's inquest into the murder of Mrs. Stanley Gibson, 32, who shot and was fatally injured with Peter Brown, 38, Hillsboro, Ohio, contractor and father of six children, will be conducted today, county officials announced.

Held in the county jail pending the outcome of the inquest, Brown, in explanation of the murder, which occurred in a Cincinnati suburb Wednesday night, today adhered to his original story.

He declared that the woman was murdered by bandits who fired through the rear of Brown's auto as he attempted to escape from them.

Coroner F. O. Swing late yesterday announced, following a post mortem examination of the victim's body, that the wound in the woman's head indicated that the fatal shot had been fired from close range, and possibly not through the rear of the car.

In some rural regions a happy home life is prohibited for the young couple as the bridegroom permits the bride to pick out the cookstove.

REPORT SHOWS STATE REVENUE FALLING OFF

Decline Is Blamed on Abatement of Four Special Tax Levies

Columbus, Jan. 7.—Figures showing that the state revenue fell off during the last three years are contained in a report submitted today to legislative leaders by members of the joint legislative committee on taxation and economy.

Revenues for 1923, according to the report, aggregated $51,138,284; for 1924, $50,225,248; for 1925, $44,241,912 and for 1926, $47,010,637.

"This decline," the report reads, "has been due to the abatement of the four special tax levies for highway construction, educational building purposes, institutional building purposes and for educational equalization."

"The revenues of the general revenue fund remained practically constant, but with the repeal of the highway construction and the educational equalization levies, the demands upon the general revenue fund have been greatly increased during the last two fiscal years."

"The weakness of a system of special funds becomes apparent from an examination of the receipts of these state funds during the last few years," declared the report.

"When large amounts of revenue are designated for special purposes, the inevitable result is over-financing in some funds and under-financing in others."
